EARLY SIGNS OF the new addition indicate the beginning of a large project.

A SNEAK PREVIEW causes the viewer to be optimistic.

UNFAVORABLE WEATHER AS evidenced by the mud puddle gives a bleak outlook to hopeful students and faculty.

Trucks carrying building materials establish the "stock" for Muhlenberg's newest addition . . . neatly stacked supplies for convenient use . . . a peek through some cinder blocks reveals the beginning . . . workmen shuffling about as students and faculty apprehensively view . . . deft feats of balance . . . quality craftsmanship . . . deafening operations . . .

All anxiously watch the piles of supplies slowly disappear . . . only to reappear in a puzzle put together—March, 1965.

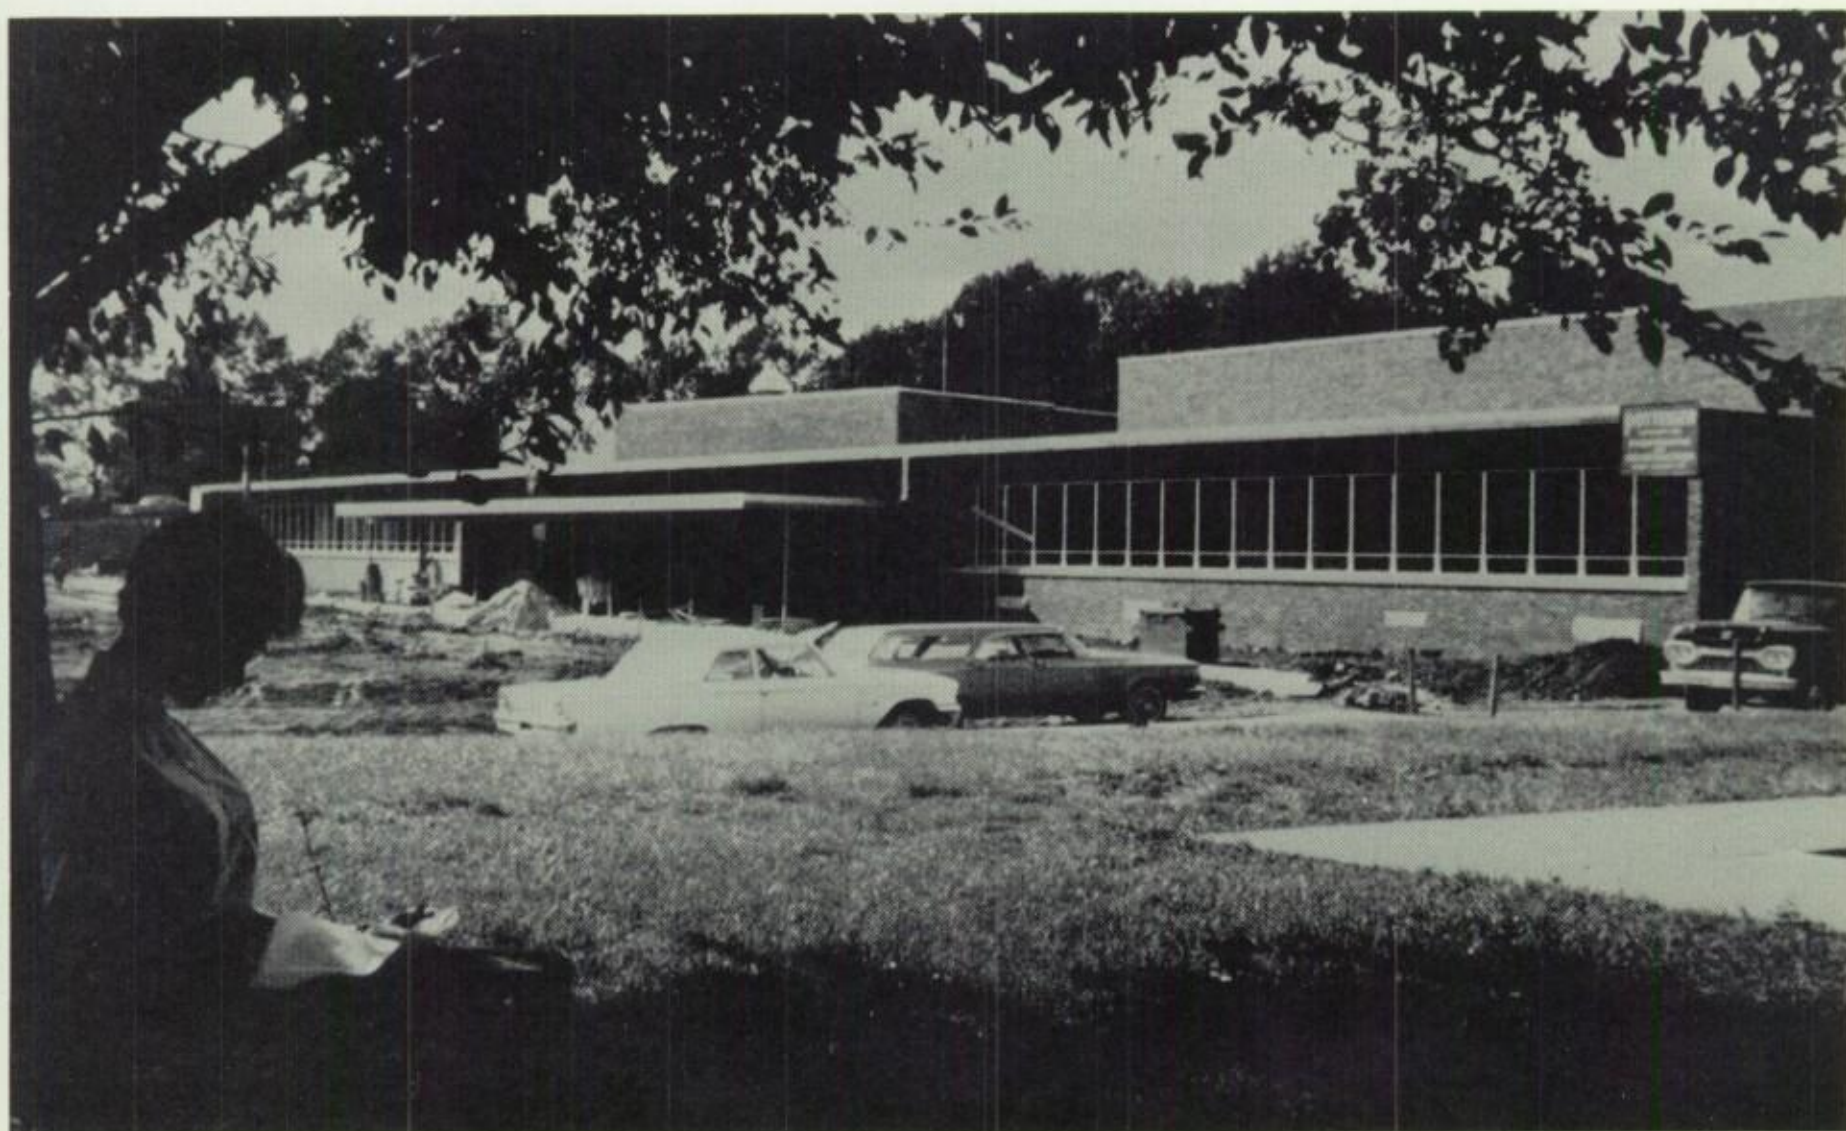

M77S

REPLENISHMENT OF MATERIALS and the sun bring inspiring buoyancy to Muhlenberg's atmosphere.

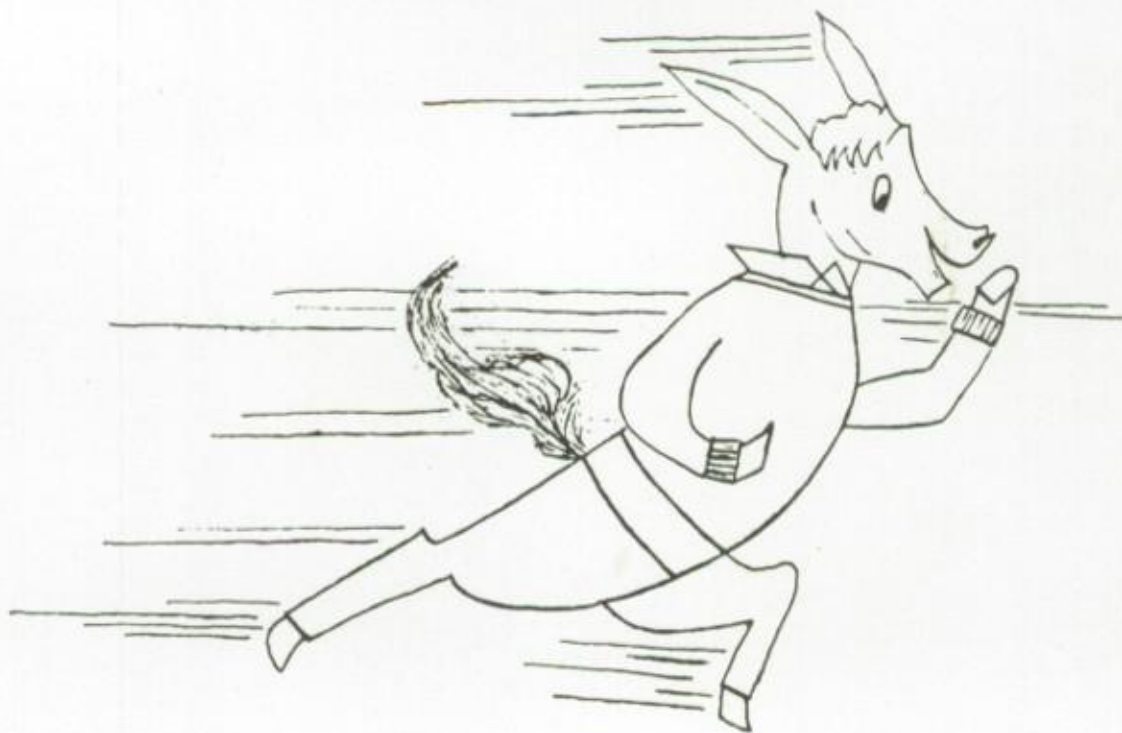

Growth Encourages Enrichment

STUDENTS PATIENTLY WAIT as workmen move inside to finish the structure.

*Our thoughts are held in loving thrall
To this, our honored Hall.
Within these walls we've

Denny
To a sweet girl
I met last year
Remember all the fun
we had in homerooms
May happiness & success be with you always. Good luck in everything you may attempt.
